

Monday early morning snow possible: Likely washed away by change to all rain

At Providence, snow is possible Mon 12:00-3:00am before changing to rain 3:00-11:00am.

Accumulation of as much as 1 inch could occur before the change, but temperatures rising above freezing with the change and into the low 40s by sunrise will prevent snow from remaining on the ground.